Chapter 1 by -

Today is Hanukkah. The festival of lights that lasts for eight days.

But it is hard. My school will not give me a week off to celebrate the holiday. I am a straight A student who never misses a day. So I have requested leaving school a couple hours early, but the principal says if I do, it will come of my grades...

I am attired in my holiday garb. I will be leaving for the ceremony after school, but I will miss much of it.

"Etsuko, hey! Halloween or something?" Miko ran to catch up with me as I walked towards the classroom.

I rolled my eyes and stepped into class. The room was almost filled as I entered. All eyes were watching me as I took a seat.

But I was used to being stared at. I was the only one in school with a Jewish father and a Japanese mother. Being raised a Jewess meant being different from the others.
